STATE SENATE IN A DEADLOCK

Still with No Prospect of Finding a Key to Unlock It Soon.

VOTE ON A SENATOR

Will Likely Be Taken by the House But Not by the Senate Tomorrow.

CHARLESTON, Jan. 20.—The key to the deadlock in the state senate has not yet been found and in consequence twenty-nine senators listened to a prayer at noon today and then recessed until 4:30 this afternoon, at which time a vote or two may be taken, but that is doubtful, and then the Senate will adjourn until tomorrow.

No new proposal has been made by either side but each side held conferences this morning. That proposed legislation is playing an important part in the organization of the Senate there can be no longer any question.

It is possible that the House may decide late this afternoon to vote for a United States senator tomorrow. The question, however, will be put up to the House.

The Senate, however, will take no such step until the second Tuesday after the organization of the senate.

Minister Beaupre and President Gomez (at the top), and Orestes Ferraz.

American intervention in Cuba seems again imminent. Turnover, bankruptcy and disorder are threatened as the Gomez administration draws to a close. The Cuban congress, which is completely under the control of President Gomez and his chief lieutenant, Orestes Ferraz, speaker of the house, has under serious consideration several measures the success of which would bring disaster to the republic. One provides for the release of 35,000 desperate criminals in Cuban prisons. The administration also proposes, during its final days, to reward its members with substantial amounts of cash.

Mr. Beaupre, American minister in Havana, has informed Cuban authorities that if the bill providing for the release of criminals is passed, Yankee gunboats will be sent to the island to preserve order.

BAD MONEY PASSER DULY FOUND GUILTY

And His Accused Confidante Will Be Tried at This Term.

PARKERSBURG, Jan. 21.—Salvatore Lotello, one of the Italians charged with having passed $2 counterfeited bills at Clarksburg and Fairmont, was placed on trial Friday morning in the United States court and the case went to the jury at 4:30 Saturday afternoon. The jury was out fifteen minutes and returned one verdict, finding a verdict of guilty.

On the stand in his own behalf Lotello stated that he had arrived in Fairmont from Pittsburgh with only a few cents in change and a $50 bill; that he had the latter changed and was given many $2 bills for it; that he did not know they were counterfeit and he had spent some of them in Fairmont and Clarksburg.

Witnesses from Clarksburg, where a number of the bills had been passed, stated that Lotello had been in their places and bought articles for which he gave the bills in payment. Instead of paying for other things with the change he had received, he would always produce another bill. The matter was reported to the police. Lotello was arrested and a number of the bogus bills were found in his possession. Fortunato Lobello, arrested with him, also had several of the bills and had passed some of them.

Lotello had a separate trial and, handcuffed to Lobello, was taken to the county jail. No time has been set yet for the trial of Lobello, but action in his case will probably be taken before the end of the term. Lotello was defended by Judge P. H. Moroney and Dorr Casto.

MR. WILSON

An Experienced Highway Engineer Will Make An Address at Luncheon.

Further in the interest of good roads for the Clarksburg district, the secretary of the local board of trade has interested J. R. Wilson, of Washington, Pa., in meeting the members of that organization at the luncheon to be held tomorrow at the Waldo hotel.

Mr. Wilson is an interesting highway engineer, who has had charge of considerable work in Pennsylvania, and had much to do with the campaign which secured a three hundred thousand dollar bond issue for the Mannington district in West Virginia.

As the local organization is back of the movement to secure a bond issue for Coal and Clark districts, it is possible to do so legally, Mr. Wilson's talk and advice along this line should be of valuable assistance in furthering the movement for good roads in this territory.
